Dear Alumni,

This past year we have been busy celebrating MACC’s 90th Anniversary, which has brought to the forefront the College’s history and its humble beginnings. It took vision and determination from local leaders in 1927 to establish higher education for the Moberly area, especially on the brink of the nation’s Great Depression. Yet they persevered and began offering affordable education that changed the lives of so many through the decades. As you read these pages, you will see other challenges that MACC has faced throughout the decades. Each and every challenge made this community college that much stronger.

We have dedicated much of this issue of the Alumni to this 90th milestone with the intention of conjuring memories and your connection to MACC. I have recalled many names and faces of past administration, faculty and staff, and classmates from my time as a student, instructor and now as President. In the past month, two special people from the College that touched and impacted many lives passed away, and I would like to share brief remembrances of Jim Musick and Wayne Robbins:

Jim was an important part of the MACC family and a much loved Dean of Student Services for 20 years. After his retirement, Jim remained dedicated and involved with MACC, serving on the Foundation Board and working at the Activity Center up until the time he became ill last January. He loved MACC, and the world is full of people he helped along the way, including many of us who are a part of MACC today. MACC is a better place because of Jim and all that he gave to the College.

Wayne began as an adjunct instructor and eventually became employed full-time with the Instructional Technology Department and continued to teach. Wayne always greeted with a friendly smile and loved nothing more than helping students, faculty, and staff with whatever the need. The outpouring of respect and positive regard from so many at Wayne’s passing reminds me that we truly are a community that supports each other.

How could our local leaders have envisioned the growth and expansion of their initial plans? Where their dreams left off, so many have picked up the torch and provided additional facilities, new programs, expansion to Columbia, Hannibal, Kirksville and Mexico, online classes, and ever expanding opportunities for our communities.

We already have our sights on our next milestone: the College’s centennial and what we refer to as “MACC 2027.” Please make the journey with us.

INSPIRING PEOPLE TO GIVE BACK TO ADVANCE HIGHER EDUCATION FOR OUR STUDENTS

It all begins with you.

MACC Foundation, Inc. | 101 College Avenue, Moberly, MO 65270 | (660) 263-4100, ext. 11550
Susan Arment, Director of Institutional Development - susana@macc.edu
STUDENTS, FACULTY, ALUMNI and those with a deep connection to Moberly and its beloved college recently toured an exhibition at the Evelyn E. Jorgenson Fine Arts Gallery on Moberly’s campus. The exhibition, “A Trip through Time,” was on display from August 21 to September 30 and was a main draw for MACC’s Ninetieth Anniversary’s calendared events.

The exhibition showcased the College’s highlights through the past nine decades and was a compelling narrative of MACC’s journey and a display loaded with historic photos. The presentation featured a bold ninety-year timeline that encompassed the perimeter of the entire gallery with each decade and year notably marked. The exhibition not only recounted the college’s happenings, but also provided viewers with coinciding international and national historic events, pop cultural trivia, and major sporting feats.

A reception was held for the exhibition on Thursday, August 31. Close to sixty guests attended the event that evening. To hear the many stories shared by former administration, faculty, and alumni gave resonance to the initial goal of engaging those who had “walked these corridors” during the past ninety years.

While the exhibit featured the past, it also fast-forwarded to our current opportunities offered to our MACC students and our goals for the future. Two display areas were staged in the center of the gallery: one that had historical artifacts and another that included images of all the MACC campuses and a list of the various degrees and certifications currently offered.

The historical display featured a mural painted by members from the student body in the mid-1950s. The mural had been a permanent fixture in the cafeteria through the ’50s, ’60s and ‘70s. By the ‘80s it was displayed in the Student Commons, and now resides in the Alumni Museum. Also included was an oak desk chair recently donated by Carol Gerhard (c. 1930) and one of the College’s original furnishings. The desk chair was given to Ralph Gerhard when they replaced the furniture in his classroom in the ‘80s. Stan Isle’s typewriter was featured, MaJiC’s uniform (the Greyhound mascot), and a uniform worn by the drum corps during the ‘50s. In the forefront were the original blueprints of Main Building, drawn by local architect Ludwig Abt, and an enlarged aerial view of the Moberly campus from the ‘60s.

The exhibition’s second display area held equipment and uniforms worn by students and trainees in our various programs (i.e. Associate Degree of Nursing, Law Enforcement, Firefighters Academy, and Mechatronics).

Two composites were given special placement in the exhibition. The first listed all the Trustees, School Board Members, members of the Administration and Deans through the years, beginning with 1927, when the College was under the jurisdiction of Moberly Public School System, and ending with our current governing Board of Trustees in 2017. The second noted longevity of service to MACC, listing Trustees, members of the administration, faculty and staff with twenty years or more. Many eclipsed thirty years of employment.

Planning for the exhibition started in the Fall of 2016 to ensure readiness for the 90th Anniversary events. By late spring, a core committee delegated the search through archives, chronicles of college newspapers, yearbooks and memorabilia in the Alumni Museum. All efforts were worth the undertaking when seeing the viewers’ interest and enjoyment of the completed exhibition. The committee consisted of MACC faculty and staff members Kris Zauke, Valerie Darst, Carla Imgarten, Chase Stamp, Scott McGarvey, Susan Arment, and Donna Monnig. Russ McCoy, owner of Art Department & Benton’s, provided all of the printed materials. “The committee felt like it was a labor of love to work on this commemorative exhibit,” Zauke said. “Knowing that there was a huge part of our community’s history that was also woven into this timeline, made it all the more meaningful.”

“For those of you that missed the opportunity to visit the exhibit…there’s a second opportunity coming soon.” offered Arment. She said, “A smaller version will be on display in the main concourse of the Activity Center by late November.” It’s not too late for “A Trip through Time” at MACC!
Moberly Area Community College begins as a simple dream to bring higher education opportunities to Randolph County. By the fall of 1927, this dream becomes a reality. Moberly Junior College begins with an enrolling class of 49 students using rented space on the second floor of local businesses until a permanent classroom building could be built.

M.F. Beach is appointed Dean of MJC and will be named Superintendent of Moberly Public Schools in 1931.

The MJC basketball team is called the Buccaneers. They are “almost scoreless…but optimistic.”

1927

- Calvin Coolidge is the 30th U.S. President (in office since 1923).
- Sculptor Gutzon Borglum begins construction on Mount Rushmore.
- Aviator Charles Lindbergh makes his solo Trans-Atlantic flight in the Spirit of St. Louis.
- Henry Ford’s Model-A rolls off the assembly line for the first time.
- The Jazz Singer is the first feature-length sound film.

1929

- Herbert Hoover is inaugurated as the 31st U.S. President.
- October 29 – The Wall Street crash, known as “Black Tuesday”, helps bring on the Great Depression.
- The soft drink 7 Up is invented.
- The first Academy Awards are held, with Wings, a WWI epic, winning the award for Best Picture.

- Moberly Junior College has its first graduating class (33 students) in the spring of 1929.
- A fire destroys part of the Moberly High School building, so there is an urgent need to find classroom space for some students. A bond issue is passed to construct a facility that will house 11th and 12th grade students and also students in their first two years of college. Despite the hard economic times, local citizens are committed to the idea of providing quality education to area students. Construction of the Main Building at the Moberly campus is completed in 1931 at a cost of approximately $350,000.
Bids for the combined high school/junior college building are discussed at a meeting on April 8, 1930. The College’s Board and the building architect, Ludwig Abt, conceded that the south wing would have to be deleted from the plans for financial reasons. This Fine Arts wing will eventually become a part of the campus in the early 1980s.

Alpha Tau chapter of Phi Theta Kappa is organized, as well as the Quill and Scroll club and the Bozo Club (botany and zoology classes). The Pep Club members call themselves The Red Hots.

The Mojuco is first published, combining MJC’s yearbook, The Log, and the high school’s yearbook, The Salutar.

M.A. Spohrer, with MJC since the beginning, is appointed Dean.

The first Homecoming Queen, Dorothy Watts, is crowned at the Homecoming Dance. Homecoming festivities include a parade, an afternoon football game, and a Saturday night dance.

The College Orchestra features a mix of attires in the early years.

“I had so many important things that happened during my MJC years at the College that determined my career... all good!”

- Bill T. Crawford ('38)

1931: Franklin Roosevelt is sworn in as the 32nd U.S. President.

1935: The Social Security Act is passed, which still provides benefits for many Americans today.

1937: Amelia Earhart vanishes during her global flight attempt.

1939: World War II begins in September 1939.
1940
- Dr. E.J. Reynolds, B.W. Bradley, and Gerald Munday serve as Deans of MJC during the 1940s.

1941
- Enrollment for the 1940-41 school year is 203 students with an almost equal gender division. By the 1943-44 school year, the U.S. is part of WWII and enrollment dwindles to just 35 students, with only three men.

1942
- The men’s collegiate football team disbands due to the war.

1944
- MJC students, like so many other students in colleges across the country, contribute to the war effort by holding victory bond and scrap metal drives.

1941
- Japanese planes bomb the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, on December 7th, and the U.S. enters WWII.

1942
- Executive Order 9066 results in the internment of Japanese-Americans. Americans feel the pinch of government-mandated gas and food rationing measures.

1944
- The D-Day Invasion is launched on June 6.

1945
- President Franklin Roosevelt dies in April 1945 while serving in his fourth term in office. Harry S. Truman is sworn in as the 33rd U.S. President.

1945
- MJC memorializes those who served in World War II.

1946
- Maurice John becomes the new Greyhounds Basketball coach. John will go on to have an impressive 280-79 record in his time as the Greyhounds coach. He leads the Greyhounds to two NJCAA National Tournament championships.

“The late 1940’s were the beginning of exciting times for Moberly as the Greyhounds led the race. The war was over and the men came home. They were back in the classroom preparing for new lives and opportunities.”

– Nelle (Stephens) Cook ('50)
1950

• James R. Chevalier becomes Dean of Moberly Junior College.

1952

• Moberly Junior College celebrates its 25th anniversary.

1954

• In the spring of 1954, the Moberly Greyhounds men’s basketball team brings home the NJCAA national championship trophy and puts Moberly Junior College on the map for junior college basketball fans across the country.

1955

• Spring 1955 brings the glory and pride of another basketball national championship for the MJC Greyhounds under Coach Maurice John. Shown here are the Greyhound players at Hutchinson, Kansas, with a floral wreath made by Carma Tedford.

1956

• Roy Buntin becomes Dean of Moberly Junior College.

• In the 1955-56 season, integration comes to MJC Greyhound basketball with the recruitment of Albert “Skinny” Morton.

1957

• Substantial growth for MJC is limited by having to share the building with Moberly High School juniors and seniors. Questions and discussion being about administrative power and financial stability for both high school and junior college.

1958

• Lowell “Cotton” Fitzsimmons becomes head coach of the Greyhounds basketball team.

1950: The U.S. becomes involved in the Korean War. The war will last until 1953.

1953: Dwight D. Eisenhower is inaugurated as the 34th U.S. President.

1953: DNA is discovered.

1954: The U.S. Supreme Court verdict in the case of Brown vs. Board of Education of Topeka, KS, indicates that segregated public schools violate the 14th amendment and are unconstitutional.

1955: Rage over the Emmett Till murder (in Mississippi) and protest against segregation lead to the Montgomery Bus Boycott.

1955: Roy Kroc opens the first McDonalds Restaurant.

1957: The Soviet Union launches Sputnik, the first artificial Earth satellite.

1958: NASA is founded.

1959: Alaska and Hawaii are admitted to the United States as the 49th and 50th states.

“I grew up knowing that MJC would be a part of my future educational plans. I would attend for my first two college years and then transfer to MU. This went as planned, but little did I know when I began my freshman classes in 1957 that this school would still be an important part of my life 60 years later! Memories of MJC include not only lifelong friendships, but also outstanding instructors like Letta Mae Elliott, J.W. Fleming, Julia Naylor, Sarah Springer, and Robert Pfaff. This was, and is, an outstanding place to begin your higher education.”

– Carol (Reynolds) Gerhard (’59)
“Ralph Gerhard would say, ‘MJC – MAJC – MACC gave me some of the most important things in my life: Room 230 where I was privileged to teach for 35 years; The Greyhounds, and the many wins and friendships with great coaches and players, both Greyhounds and opponents; and my wife of 47 years, Carol. All my life I wanna be a Greyhound!’”

– Carol Gerhard

1963
• Students and faculty are stunned by the assassination of President Kennedy.

1966
• MJC basketball grabs the spotlight in 1966 as the Greyhounds win their third national championship, this time under Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. Missouri Governor Warren E. Hearnes and other dignitaries congratulate the team.

1967
• MJC maintains its preeminence in the NJCAA basketball world by winning a second consecutive national championship, becoming one of only two schools to ever win four championships.

1968
• After many years of discussion, a bond issue is passed, which funds the building of a new high school in Moberly. The juniors and seniors move off the MJC campus to the new Moberly High School. MJC begins receiving state aid.

1969
• With 11th and 12th grade students now in the high school building, there is continued discussion about whether MJC should have its own separate administrative structure.
If David were here today, he would be proud of the growth the College has achieved. He was there when they began their expansion but didn’t get to see all that it is today. Moberly Area Community College and the faculty were a huge part of his life. The people whom he worked with were devoted to the growth of the College but also were a part of the community as a whole. They lived here, worked here, and raised their families here. They believed in the College and its value to the community. He was proud to be a part of that belief.

— Kathy Kropf
“I have many memories as a student at MJC from 1981 – 83. I’ll never forget the welcome that was given to all of us and we became “family”. Memories include: the SLOB’s (Stormin’ Lee’s Obnoxious Boosters) and SLOBETTE’s cheering on the Greyhounds; everyone visiting in the Commons; the traveling music show; becoming Homecoming Queen; and being elected the first female SGA President... along with so many other activities. ‘So happy to still be a part of a great college that offers so much for their students in filling their hopes and dreams for the future!’

– Jacquelyn “Jacki” Davidson (’83)
“My 27 years at MACC gave me the opportunity to form life-long friendships, to work with great colleagues, and to share my love of learning. I like to believe that in a small way I’ve encouraged my students to value the quality education they received from MACC.”

– Alva Underwood

• The Board of Trustees officially adopts a name change to Moberly Area Community College.
• MACC begins offering dual credit and dual enrollment to high school juniors and seniors.

1992
• MACC earns a ten-year reaccreditation by the North Central Association.
• The college expands off-campus offerings to the city of Kirksville for the first time, as well as continuing to offer courses in Mexico and Macon.

1993
• College Hall is completed in 1993, and the new building provides much-needed space for classrooms, science labs, and administrative offices.

1996
• After 20 years as president, Dr. Andrew Komar, Jr., retires from MACC, and College Hall is renamed in his honor. Dr. Evelyn Jorgenson is appointed as the new MACC President.
• MACC opens the Law Enforcement Training Center, branching out into a new professional training area.

“Going to MACC allowed me to get an affordable, quality education while working as a teller at the local bank and also helping my dad on our family farm. After college, I went back to work at that bank full-time and have been in the lending business for 15 years. My wife, Brooke (Sydenstricker), was a cheerleader at MACC. We are true believers in MACC and know that it adds value to the communities it serves.”

– Jon McCarty (’00)
“The 90th Anniversary of Moberly Area Community College means a lot to me because it shows that for the past ninety years, students like myself have been given the opportunity to attend an institution that helps them retain knowledge, become better critical thinkers, and expand their worldly views. MACC allows individuals to open doors to infinitely greater possibilities, and I’m proud to have attended such an outstanding college. Without MACC, I wouldn’t have been able to turn my passion into a career, or my dreams into a reality.”

– Amy Dennis (’17)
IN RINGING IN AND ROUNDING OUT the Moberly Area Community College’s 90th Anniversary, the MACC Foundation Inc. hosted a fundraising gala on Saturday, September 30. Over 150 people were in attendance at the anniversary’s final event, which paid tribute to both the College’s past and future.

The gala started with a social hour in the Evelyn E. Jorgenson Fine Arts Gallery, allowing attendees to enjoy the exhibit “A Trip through Time.” Dinner followed in the MACC Auditorium and guests dined on a prime rib dinner which was catered by Chef Jeff. A cash bar was provided by the Eagles #2669. The guests also enjoyed a complimentary glass of wine from Twin Meadows Winery that was donated by patrons of the Foundation. Twin Meadows Winery is owned and operated by Ron & Kelly Ott.

The entertainment was provided by members of the MACC Theater Department, under the direction of Distinguished Educator Joyce Pauley, and the MACC Singers, directed by Professor Karen Werner. They performed highlights from musicals through the decades with a “slight MACC twist.” The troupe was given a standing ovation after their finale.

Dr. Jeffery Lashley served as emcee for the program and introduced many in attendance for the College’s big night. Missouri State legislators in attendance were: Rep. Nate Walker (3rd District); Rep. Craig Redmon (4th District); Rep. Lindell Shumake (5th District); Rep. Chuck Bayse (47th District); Rep. Tim Remole (6th District); and Sen. Caleb Rowden (19th District). Remole and Rowden read proclamations coming from both the Missouri House of Representatives and Missouri Senate signed by all the legislators serving MACC’s sixteen-county service region.

Special guests for the night were Dr. Evelyn E. Jorgenson and her husband, Chuck. Dr. Jorgenson was MACC’s third president, in leadership from 1996 to 2013. Also present was a core group from the Affordable Community Education Committee (ACE), who traveled en masse from the Hannibal area.

Trustee Emeritus Greg Walker, who was on the Board of Trustees for thirty years (1984 to 2014), returned to...
Moberly to offer keynote remarks. Walker began by posing the question, “How many lives have been impacted by Moberly Area Community College?” He then paid honor to all the past and current presidents of MACC and reflected on how each leader came at just the right time in the College’s journey and orchestrated growth and expansion that could not have been foreseen by the College’s founders and original visionaries. Upon surmising MACC’s far-reaching impact, Walker drew a standing ovation with his closing remarks.

A video produced and narrated by Scott McGarvey captured the college’s focus on higher education and set the stage for MACC’s future efforts. Images through the years and students’ commentaries gave proof of how the College’s programs and instructors had successfully opened doors, provided opportunities and changed their lives forever. McGarvey appealed for support toward the next milestone: our centennial. Our motto is “The Future Is Now... MACC 2027.”

Susan Arment, Director of Intuitional Development & Alumni Services, introduced the MACC volunteers from the staff and a few of the Presidential Ambassadors who handed out fundraising pledge cards to the guests. Arment also thanked the committee that had assisted with the planning details for the gala, those being Valerie Darst, Jenny Laughlin, and Shannon Crist.

There are times when one has to reflect on the past before envisioning the future. That message was evident at the MACC Foundation Inc. gala. Before imagining our next ninety years of growth in enrollment, programs, and technology, one has to truly appreciate how MACC met and successfully achieved the realization of our founders’ dreams.
