The Spring 2013 New Traditions Scholarship awards ceremony was scheduled for April 1 before we realized that April 1st was the birth date of Ruth Lawrence, a long-time supporter of the New Traditions scholarship program. After their mother's passing two years ago on 2/11/11, Ruth's daughters, Nita Enochs, Springfield, and Melva Deanne Lipsey, Jefferson City, instituted a memorial scholarship in their mother's honor beginning in the fall of 2011. Because this semester's ceremony coincided with what would have been Ruth's 101st birthday, Rebecca Myers, Kansas City, Melva Deanne's daughter and Ruth's grand-daughter, also attended the ceremony to give a testimonial to her grandmother and present the Ruth Lawrence Memorial Scholarship award to MACC A.D.N. student Kyleene Powell. Several MACC administrators, faculty members, and members of the New Traditions Advisory Committee were also in attendance at the event to remember Ruth Lawrence and to celebrate the success of our students.

The New Traditions Scholarships and grants program receives funding from three separate sources. Funding through the state legislature provides Fee Waivers for Displaced Homemakers (DHFV) to community colleges and career and technical schools. MACC provides five $500 Institutional Scholarships annually, renewable for one semester; and ten private donors provide $2575 per semester. Private donors consist of private individuals, civic organizations, and businesses. Applications for MACC Institutional Scholarships are due on April 1 each year, and can be completed online or submitted to the Financial Aid department or to Off-Campus Directors. Applications for the DHFV and private scholarships can be completed by CAPS staff in person in the Career Center, Rooms C-02 or C-21 or over the phone (660) 263-4100 x 11232 or 11319.

Graduate placement report

Every year, MACC's Career and Placement Services department submits a report to the state following a survey conducted 180 days after graduation for all career and technical program graduates. A total of 232 students completed 234 certificates, Associate of Applied Science degrees and/or Associate Degrees in Nursing in the reporting period that included graduates from the summer and fall 2011 and spring 2012 semesters.

Ninety-four percent (94%) of MACC graduates were either working or continuing their educations.

This breaks down to 157 graduates being employed in their field of study, and 30 continuing their educations in their field of study for a total related placement rate of 81%. Twenty-eight were employed in a non-related field, and three were continuing their educations in a non-related field. Only eight graduates were not employed at the time of the survey, with an additional two not available for placement and four who we were unable to locate, labeled as "status unknown".

MACC CTE graduates reported an average hourly salary of $15.21

Employers included hospitals, clinics, long term care facilities, doctor's offices, law firms, accounting firms, manufacturers, state agencies, IT firms, child development centers, universities, colleges, printing companies, graphic design firms, public utilities, contractors, power plants, construction firms, distribution centers, police departments, sheriff's departments, correctional centers, medical laboratories, home health agencies, and diagnostic centers.
